

AUSTIN CARTER'S LIFE IS SPARED

JUDGE BRYSON'S PLEA FACTOR AT ELEVENTH HOUR

Governor Commutes Sentence to Life Imprisonment After Declining to Saturday—Trial Judge Doubtful as to Carter's Sanity.

(Special To The Bee.)

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 1.—Governor Cameron Morrison this afternoon commuted the sentence of W. Austin Carter, convicted wife slayer to life imprisonment. This was done on the arrival here this afternoon of Carter's counsel bearing a statement from Judge T. D. Bryson recommending the commutation. He would have died before daybreak tomorrow.

The fight to save W. Austin Carter from death in the electric chair in the Raleigh penitentiary before daybreak tomorrow for the murder of his wife at Reidsville, N. C., a year ago, has not been given up. On the contrary a development within the past 24 hours almost warrants the assertion that Carter will be saved from death by the governor of North Carolina this afternoon and instead, will have to remain the rest of his life in penal servitude.

The development came during the course of yesterday when Attorney P. W. Glidewell of Reidsville, who has made an energetic fight to save his client, succeeded in persuading Judge T. D. Bryson, Carter's trial judge, to recommend a commutation. On Saturday Governor Cameron Morrison, after hearing Glidewell's final argument expressed the belief that there was nothing in the record compiled after the jury trial that warranted executive interference. The insanity plea, the governor insisted, had been the issue before the jury, and it had been found that the prisoner guilty of first degree murder. The presentation of additional affidavits supporting the theory that Carter was unbalanced when he killed Mrs. Gertie Moore Carter, did not impress the executive.

Mr. Glidewell, however, told the Bee this morning that the executive pointed to the fact that Judge Bryson did not recommend the commutation and that he considered this another determining factor. Glidewell further stated that the governor clearly indicated that if Judge Bryson would recommend commutation he would feel disposed to enter the executive order sparing Carter's life.

The attorney withdrew from the governor's presence Saturday afternoon realizing that one final chance remained to save the life of the condemned man and he lost no time in turning it to good account. Mr. Glidewell already knew that the judge of the court had expressed himself previously against a commutation but this did not prevent the lawyer from taking the chance on a reversal. Returning to Reidsville late Saturday night, Glidewell found that Judge Bryson was not in his home at Brysonville, N. C., but was in Greensboro, N. C., where he opened Guilford Superior Court. Yesterday Judge Glidewell motored over to Greensboro and had an interview with the judge. The attorney stated that he found the judge prepared to recommend a commutation, but he had recently given the matter renewed consideration and that he was now of the belief that as there was a question as to Carter's sanity, it might be well to feel like making the recommendation.

Greatly encouraged, Glidewell returned to Reidsville, leaving there this morning in his car for Raleigh where he planned to secure the judge's written recommendation and then to continue his journey to Raleigh to present it to the governor. Before leaving Reidsville this morning, Mr. Glidewell expressed earnest belief that the judge's recommendation and recommendation of commutation would reverse the decision made on Saturday. He said he expected to go before the governor at three o'clock this afternoon. In the meantime, Carter remains in the "death row" of the Raleigh penitentiary prepared to meet his maker before daybreak tomorrow. He had been optimistic for the last two weeks and had earnestly believed that the commutation order would be entered. Mr. Glidewell did not have time to see his client after the governor's refusal Saturday evening but he saw the condemned man before the governor. Glidewell said this morning that Carter seemed resigned to his fate and appeared remarkably cool. He said Carter Saturday morning, and told him of his precarious plight. Carter said, as he shook his head and to thank him warmly for the effort to save his life. Carter is further quoted as saying that he was ready to die should the governor decline to save his life.

Carter today knew nothing of the desperate effort which is being made to save him and he is in the belief that each hour carries him nearer to the supreme order which he has accepted. Carter never took the stand at his own trial. The whole defense was based upon his unsoundness of mind at the time he committed the act which the jury reflected. Carter's only version of the killing was given to a newspaper reporter who saw him in his cell in the Danville jail soon after he had been locked up. At that time he held a packet of letters which he insisted would be brought into the trial. One of these he showed to the reporter. It was signed by the name "Price" and was abusive in name. The letter made reference to the fact that Mrs. Carter was stopping at her father-in-law's house and that the writer was "having a good time." The implied subtle meaning as apparent to any one reading it, Carter did not show the other letters. Enquiry of his attorneys today revealed that these letters had been placed before the governor.

DOZENS OTHERS ARE INJURED, SOME FATALLY

Many Trapped When New York Rooming House Burns

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Four persons, three of them women, lost their lives in a fire which swept a five-story rooming house in West 63rd street this morning. Twelve other persons were injured, some of them probably fatally. Their retreat cut off by the flames, many roomers were rescued from window ledges of the upper stories by firemen. Some were hurt in jumping to the street. One woman was killed in leaping from the roof. The bodies of two other women were found in the hallways of the third and fourth floors. The man's body was found on the top floor landing. Detectives started search for a motorman, whose trolley car cut a hose line laid across Columbus avenue. The severing of the hose hindered combating of the flames for several minutes.

PELLS SUCCUMBS TO HIS WOUNDS AT MT. AIRY

Witnesses Say Patrick Sheriff Was Battling For His Life

(Special To The Bee)
STUART, Va., Dec. 1.—Pells of this county, who was recently shot during an encounter with Sheriff D. Mays, has succumbed to his wounds in the Mount Airy N. C. hospital. Little hope was held for him from the moment he was wounded, as the bullet had penetrated the chest. Mays is not held accountable for the man's death, according to witnesses to the terrific struggle between the two men for the possession of the officer's weapon. According to their statements, Pells, as soon as he saw Mays approaching him said he would not be taken and tried to draw a pistol. Mays also had his gun drawn and the two men closed before Pells could get out his revolver. The men fought for several minutes. Pells trying to wrest the gun from Mays, finally succeeded and he fired twice at Mays but the latter was dexterous enough to avoid the missiles. The two men at one time were on the ground and Pells is said to have kicked Mays so hard in the side that two ribs were fractured. As the struggle for the gun continued it went off and the bullet entered Pells' body. Further details of the matrimonial venture which indirectly caused the death of Pells have been learned. Roy Poor and Pells, together with Mary Hester Slate, a sixteen-year-old girl, arrived in Stuart, it being Poor's intention to marry the girl. Poor and Pells are said to have sworn under oath before Lee Clark, clerk of the Patrick court, that the girl's name was Mary Hester, that she was 22 years of age and had neither parents nor guardian. On the strength of this statement the marriage license was issued and Poor and the girl were married by Rev. Newton Smith. When the parents of the girl heard about the affair, they swore out warrants charging perjury for both men and it was while Mays sought to arrest Poor that the difficulty took place. Poor was in jail here and his case was put before the grand jury this morning. The girl has been restored to her parents.

Did Furnace Murderer Wear It?

This dirty old gray coat may prove the undoing of the murderer of Mrs. Addie Sheatsley, whose body was found in the furnace of her home in Beasley, a suburb of Columbus, O. Its cuffs are burned and on it appear several stains detectives believe may be from human blood. Two of the investigators are seen here examining it, after it was found in the Sheatsley home.

APPALACHIAN POWER CO. AGAIN PLANS EXTENSION

The Appalachian Power Company is about to make a new survey of the possible demand for current in the section according to the Bluefield Daily Telegraph which in a recent issue, outlines some of these plans. These, according to the newspaper, include a projected power line from Roanoke through Martinsville to Danville. A year of two ago a good deal was heard about the Appalachian company reaching Martinsville and the project went so far as the canvassing of power users and securing tentative pledges to "hook up" with the circuit. As nothing further was heard, however, it was surmised that the power company had been unable to secure sufficient users of power to justify the high cost of extending the wire. At the present time, Martinsville is planning the development of a new power plant for its needs. The article bearing on the plans of the Appalachian Power Company is as follows: "The Appalachian Power Company as further evidence of its progressive nature and its intention to develop the territory which it serves is undertaking as once the building of a very heavy duty double circuit steel tower transmission line from its Glen Lyn steam plant to the city of Roanoke, thus to provide unlimited power and first class service for that growing community. Arrangements have so been made for the building of a similar line from Roanoke to Lynchburg, and while this line will be constructed by the American Electric Power Company, operating the public utilities in Roanoke and Lynchburg, in which the Appalachian Power Company has a financial interest, the power will be supplied by the Appalachian Power Company. Therefore, Lynchburg, after so many years, will be supplied with an adequate and practically unlimited amount of electric power, which will provide for industrial expansion. "As the Appalachian Power Company's 80,000 kilowatt steam station at Glen Lyn is interconnected with its hydro electric developments, with an installed capacity of 25,000 kilowatts, making a total of 105,000 kilowatts or about 120,000 horse power, it can be easily seen that there is power available to take care of the growth of not only the cities of Lynchburg and Roanoke but other cities and industries in the Appalachian Power Company's present territory. This station capacity can be easily increased as the power demands warrant. "As a further evidence of development surveying crews are already at work surveying for a transmission line from Roanoke to Danville and Martinsville, which will enable the Appalachian Power Company to serve the industrial requirements of those communities and the intervening towns, what also the probability of such cities and towns that they will never be throttled by lack of the power element required for industrial expansion—namely, electric power."

DANVILLE KIWANIS CLUB TO SELL RED CROSS SEALS

The sale of Red Cross Seals to swell the fund used in the construction of the Danville Hospital will be held by the Danville Kiwanis Club, James T. Quinn, Jr., president of the club, stated this morning that the organization for the drive is being undertaken this week and that the sale will probably be placed on sale next week. No admission has been made for Danville to the fund. The fund was prepared to throw the full weight of its influence into the campaign and is hopeful of raising more than $1,000. Last year the sum of $600 was netted. Twenty per cent of the proceeds goes to the American Anti-Tuberculosis Association and the remaining seventy per cent remains in the fund where it is raised. Dr. W. M. Smith of Richmond, executive secretary of the organization, was here about two months ago to prepare for the local effort and conferred with the authorities of Hilltop Sanatorium. This organization, mind, of the work already done by the Kiwanis in fitting up a ward for children, asked club representatives if it would sponsor the campaign in Danville this year and the Kiwanis, after hearing a report from the directors, enthusiastically voted to carry out the plan. Since then, the representatives have come from the Parent-Teachers' Association of Hilltop Park school, asking that a percentage of the money raised be devoted to the supplying of milk to under-nourished children at the school. The Kiwanis directors are understood to have expressed the view that as the club as a whole had voted to carry on the campaign in the belief that all the proceeds would go to a fund for a war, the matter was not, however, no definite guarantee has been given that the fund will be absorbed. The money to be raised is to be deposited in a bank and is to form the nucleus of a fund which will be helpful when the time comes, not only next year, to discuss an extension of Hilltop Sanatorium which has been termed "Danville's most popular charity."

TOWN TOPICS

City Treasurer George F. Geoghegan reported this morning that yesterday was the busiest day he has ever spent in his office. More people came to pay their taxes before the expiration of the time limit than ever before but this, he said, did not mean that the receipts were larger. Most of the amounts paid were small. Late Saturday night he deposited $65,000 in one of the local banks, this approximately representing the returns of the day. The executors of the estate of the late John E. Hughes have filed a petition with the judge of the corporation court asking that the residue of the estate, which is being held for the John E. Hughes Orphanage, be made a tax exempt fund so that all assessments on this amount be cancelled. It is set forth in the petition which is to be heard December 15th that the estate has already administered and that all accounts have been paid, also that all that remains is to sum to be devoted to charitable enterprises. The amount in taxes in which relief is asked is $1,478.12.

City Health Officer R. W. Garnett has practically recovered from the severe burns he sustained when his home near Mt. Hermon burned recently. Today he starts work on the building of a three-story house for his family in which he will live with his family until Spring when he hopes to rebuild his home on the site of that which was burned. As soon as the new home is completed the smaller building recently burned to occupy will be rented to a tenant.

The Finance Committee of the City Council will meet at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to consider the $100,000 refunding bonds recently authorized by the council. City Auditor R. P. Moss reports that a number of enquiries have been made and he would not be surprised to see fifteen or more firms bidding tomorrow. The bond issue is to retire bonds issued in 1935 for water and gas improvements in the city. The bonds cannot be retired when due, January 1st, 1935, because of the fact that during the year 1934 an insufficient sum had been paid into the sinking fund to meet the maturity of these old bonds. The new bonds are of serial variety and the council will see, it is said, that as the bonds mature they will be money to meet each installment.

Dr. C. E. Harper of the state Board of Health will be in Danville Wednesday for another day of chest x-ray examinations under the auspices of the city health department. The clinic hours will be from 9 to 12:30 to 5 and 7:30 to 8:30.

HEARING ON POOL PARDON IS POSTPONED

Illness of Smith, Counsel For Convicted Cashier, Causes Delay

The arguments which were to have been heard today by Governor Trimble in Richmond, on the conditional suspension of sentence on Thomas G. Pool, convicted cashier of the State Bank of Virginia, will not be held today, it was learned late this morning from James S. Basely, Commonwealth's attorney of Halifax county. The sudden illness of Harry W. Smith, counsel for Pool on Saturday, Mr. Basely called the governor's office yesterday but was unable to secure any satisfaction but he learned indirectly from Attorney Tuck, of Virginia, one of Pool's counsel, that the hearing would be postponed until Mr. Smith is able to appear. Mr. Smith was stricken with a severe form of internal hemorrhage in the vicinity of Woodstock while he was motoring with his wife to Baltimore to witness the Arm-Navy game at Baltimore. He was hospitalized in a hospital in Winchester where he remains. His condition is reported to be improved but he is still weak and will not be able to attend his professional duties for several days. Mr. Basely and other interested persons from Virginia, did not leave for Richmond last night realizing that it would be impossible to have the hearing this morning.

Short Session Faces Renewal of Strife and Turmoil Which Characterized First Gathering — Deficiency Bill, Muscle Shoals Project, Railroad and Farm Legislation Chief Business of Senate.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—After a six months' rest, the Sixty-eighth Congress reassembled today to renew, in its last and short session, the turmoil and strife which characterized its first and prolonged gathering. Only brief meetings by each house were arranged for today, with the program fixed in this fashion: Prayer. Roll calls to develop quorums. Sweeping in of new members. Appointment of committee to notify the president that Congress is ready to receive communications from him. Presentation and adoption of resolutions on the death of members during the recess. Adjournment out of respect to dead members. There will be a further marking of time tomorrow pending receipt of President Coolidge's annual message, which will be transmitted by messenger for reading in each house separately. On Thursday the real work of the session will begin, but how much can or will be accomplished before automatic adjournment in March remains a big question in the minds of all leaders alike.

Chief attention will be given to the annual appropriation bills, whether all of these can be disposed of is now by no means certain. Much general legislation is contemplated and there is going to be strong pressure for consideration of a number on which there is a good deal of opinion among members.

The usual differences of opinion are not the only hazard that have a place in the legislative part of the field. Senator Lodge and his associates will also be in the line-up. Republicans in the House have no intention of taking the same side of the LaFollette followers at the head of the Capitol. Apparently the action of the Senate republicans has had its effect there and has served to widen the breach between the regular and insurgent republicans so often apparent at the last session. While some immediate aftermaths, such as protests from several leading senators, are to be expected to follow the action of the republican conference the full effect probably will be slow in developing. As the life of the session slowly approaches its end, the slow progress of the session generally looked for is the slowing up of action on legislation in general with the consequent increasing of the possibilities of an extraordinary session at the end of the year.

After the usual preliminaries of a new session have been disposed of, during the first half of this week, the House will get to work on the appropriation bills, taking up first that for the interior department. Meantime, the republican steering committee of the Senate will meet to map out a program for further Senate approval with the Democrats and insurgents who will continue to hold the whip hand.

The Senate has a large amount of legislation pending deficiency bill, the Muscle Shoals project and railroad and farm legislation. Generally speaking, farm aid is regarded as the most important of all subjects, but the commission which is engaged in a study of this whole field, it is likely that a decision as to the form that legislation is to take will await the report of that commission. Ford out of the field and several new bids in hand, the Senate is now in a position to be sent back to the Senate agriculture committee for further consideration. There is going to be renewed pressure to dispose of this matter by the many leaders but it will be one of many problems which will be left to the next Congress. Although this is a hard over Congress on the floor of the two houses and there will be important changes in standing committees, particularly in the Senate, where members in the Senate include Wm. H. Butler of Massachusetts, chairman of the republican national committee, appointed to succeed Senator Lodge, Lee H. Metcalf of Rhode Island and Senator Cummings of Iowa, as head of the judiciary committee, of which the late Senator Brandegee of Connecticut was the chairman. The republican organization in the Senate has a new head in Senator Curtis, Kansas, former party "whip" who succeeds Senator Lodge. Senator Watson of Indiana is the assistant leader, in place of Senator Curtis. There also will be a new party whip. His selection has been left to Senator Curtis.

MOVIE NOTES

Helen De Motte had this to say in the Richmond News Leader after she had witnessed a performance of "White Cargo," which is scheduled to show at the Majestic theater, Danville the night of Dec. 8.

"White Cargo," playing at the Academy the last half of this week, must be described as a great play—great, because it treats two portentous themes with a stark realism that holds a redemptive cleanliness in its pillage of reality; great, because its inevitability is not compromised by an attempt to make it palatable to minds that shrink from relentless brutality; great, because its characterization is superbly consistent; great, because of its impeccable craftsmanship; because with the clearness, emphasis, movement and sustained power of its motivation there is a continued onward emotional sweep that gloriously vindicates the life it portrays, without exaggeration of conscious striving for effect.

A comparison with "Rain," lately seen here, is inevitable, since both are concerned with the reaction of the white man to climatic conditions in the tropics, but "Rain" is an anemic half-sister to "White Cargo." Given the poop with conditions the events with which "Rain" were concerned might have happened but "White Cargo" is a play that inevitably have happened, all the difference between speculation and certainty. "Rain" is a strong play, "White Cargo" is a great drama. "Anna Christie" is scarcely to be compared with "White Cargo," since "White Cargo" was the obsession of Chris and not a conscious influence in the shaping of its events.

"White Cargo" is a portrayal of the struggle of the white man to develop the commercial possibilities of the west coast of South America, in spite of the damp rot bred by the sun, which penetrates not only innaminate objects and vegetation, but also the physical and spiritual life of the white man. Each new man who comes to the colony believes that he will be able to change these conditions, but the end is written in everything material and human with which he comes in contact. Then there is always the native woman, in this case Tondoleyo, half French, without mentality or morals, but superbly physical and alluring. There is always, too, the frightful hell-hound, the high, cruel tension which comes of living in such places, in close contact with men of all sorts. Everything conspires to mental and moral disintegration.

In this pertinent case, young Langford, a fine, clean upstanding chap, is sent out from the home office to take charge of the works in place of Keating, who had broken down. His struggle to keep clean in body and soul, to the point of martyrdom, Tondoleyo, ends in a complete breakdown and he is sent home on the little river boat that touches this port once every three months, raving in delirium. He is succeeded by another fine youngster who announces with the same fatuous unctious that he expects to change all this, as the last curtain falls, a tremendously significant bit of work on the part of the dramatist.

The company is made up of ten superb players. Marshall Vincent plays the doctor who, ruined by drink, has drifted out here and become a "spotter" who still longs for the "Cheshire Cheese" and the medical journal, in moving fashion. It is a fine and touching characterization. Cornelius Roddy, as Witzel, has the biggest work of the cast and he plays it magnificently. He came as near having an ovation last night as a Richmond audience ever abandons itself to. Bernard Thornton played admirably as Langford and Helen Stransky, presumably, was an alluring and graceful Tondoleyo. It is a revolting situation and therefore, from an audience standpoint, an ungrateful part to play, but Miss Stransky played it with consummate art.

Flashes of the Great White Way will positively be seen in this city in the near future.

"Money makes the mare go," asserts a venerable axiom and the same motto, however dubious in sound, the New York showman who are responsible for this opus. A guarantee of what is declared to be the largest ever put up for a city of this size, was posted by the local showman in his efforts to secure the attraction for his patrons.

From all indications M. F. Sohmer will not suffer financially. The theatre man admitted that his attention was called to the attraction in a letter from a friend who had seen the show elsewhere and that since the announcement the attraction might be booked locally sufficient mail orders have reached the box office to insure all expenses of the undertaking.

For several seasons, reviews on the order of those long present at the Folies-Bergere, Paris, albeit on a more glorified scale, have been most successful in New York. Whether it was because the producers thought their entertainments too sophisticated and daring for the road or the cost of operating outside of the metropolis is too great is unanswered. The fact remains, Flashes of the Great White Way has reversed all odds. Newspaper critics are unanimous in declaring that while its display of feminine charms is liberal to the point of prodigality, it is as chaste in character as a hymn book. Its box office potency is unquestioned and offsets added cost of operating outside Gotham. The latter fact accounts for the decision of the management to keep the attraction on the road for a month longer before inaugurating Tondoleyo, ends in a complete breakdown and he is sent home on the little river boat that touches this

Scarlet Fever.
C. A. F. writes: Will you please write an article on scarlet fever, length of time of isolation, and the sterilizing of body and bed clothes before sending to the laundry?

REPLY.
Scarlet fever is due to one of the streptococci. The infection enters the nose and mouth, and the throat. Somewhere about one-half the people—children and adults—are incapable of having sore throat. A great many people are born with this capacity or incapacity, whichever we choose to call it, and many acquire it either by having scarlet fever or in some other way.

People in the warmer parts of the Union know very little about scarlet fever by experience. After the streptococcus gets into the throat there is an incubation period which varies from two to seven days, but which generally is three days. Then come sore throat and fever. Within a day the glands begin to swell. As a rule, quarantine laws call for isolation for four weeks from the date of the first rise of fever. Some laws require five weeks of isolation. As a special case, at the end of the first (or three) weeks the throat is still sore, or the tonsils bossy, or there is any discharge from the ears or eyes, or if the glands are still swollen, the isolation is not to be terminated unless very close inspection shows such termination to be safe.

So long as the throat is sore, or there is any discharge of pus, or nose or throat secretion, all towels, bed linen, and washable clothing must be boiled before they leave the premises for the laundry or for other destination. Prolonged soaking in a sterilizing solution, as designated by the health department, may take the place of boiling.

It is generally advised that the body be washed with soap and warm water and then dressed. The dressing is done to limit the loose flying of scales rather than to stimulate. The scales are not supposed to spread contagion.

The older authorities advised greasing the body with ointments containing oil of eucalyptus. Since Bright's disease is the most frequent and serious complication and after-effect of scarlet fever, it is safer not to use an ointment of eucalyptus on the skin. The oil absorbed, by loading the kidneys, will do more harm than the oil on the skin will do good by disinfecting.

Among other complications and after-effects of scarlet fever are heart disease and deafness. In his work on deaf-mutism Daudet ranks scarlet fever next to syphilis among the bacterial diseases which act as causes of that unhappy state. Aside from deaf-mutism, scarlet fever is responsible for other ear, nose, and throat troubles. We now know of antitoxins to pure scarlet fever and of vaccines to prevent it. We know of a method of telling who can have scarlet fever and who cannot have it. These new methods have been known in laboratory circles for more than a year. They ought to become available for the people within a year.

Pasteurization of milk is becoming widely used. All in all, scarlet fever could be decreased yearly and before long should get somewhere near the vanishing point. They fit in the treatment is the case of sore throat without skin symptoms which is really a case of scarlet fever and which spreads the disease because it is thought to be harmless.

3. What should diet consist of for high blood pressure?
4. Do operations have anything to do with high blood pressure?

REPLY.
1. It does. If the heart pounds hard it raises the pulse pressure and

2. Ordinarily 140 is given as normal for a person 60 years of age; 155 is nearer right.

5. A weak heart of itself does not cause high blood pressure. A person who has disease of his blood pressure walls is apt also to have heart trouble. Some kinds of heart trouble might be called "weak heart."

BROOKHART TO USE SAME DEFENSE AS OPPONENT, STECK

(By The Associated Press.)
—DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 29.—Senator Smith W. Brookhart plans to defend his claim to his seat in the United States Senate on the same grounds on which Daniel F. Steck, his Democratic opponent in the general election, plans to base his contest of the election.

This was disclosed today when the senator, through court action, got nearly a score of Iowa counties set out to preserve for the probable senate recount of the ballots, all records of the election, some of which might be destroyed under the law on Dec. 4, when county auditors are permitted to dismantle voting machines and retain only the total record for each candidate.

Senator Brookhart, in filing petitions for injunctions against 19 county auditors, asked that special masters in chancery be appointed to open voting machines and preserve ballots which may not have been counted, as well as those which were recorded.

In numerous instances he alleged in the petition filed here, "bodies of election disregarded their duties and failed to make true and accurate returns" on the senatorial race.

Attorneys for the senator declare they have evidence that in numerous counties, straight Republican ballots were not counted. As a result, they declare, the Brookhart lead over his Democratic opponent was reduced "by hundreds of votes."

A THIEF BAGS THE ONLY DRAFT OF TURKISH REFORMS

CONSTANTINOPLE.—The draft of the new reforms proposed in the Turkish code of law by the Government Commission, which has been sitting several months, was stolen from the Commission reporter, who was carrying it home in a napkin. The thief, believing the napkin contained paper money seized it and ran.

It is proposed to advertise for the draft, which contains voluminous fundamental reforms in the direction of modernization, promising the thief immunity. Otherwise the Commission must recommence work.

Chiropractic For Headaches

QUESTION—"Can you cure headaches? I don't mean relieve them temporarily, but can you cure them so they won't come back again?"

ANSWER—Any individual who suffers from one of the many different kinds of headaches should understand that this form of distress is but a symptom—an effect and back of every effect there must be a cause. There are no less than a dozen kinds of headaches and each is caused by pressure on nerves somewhere along the course of the spine cutting off the free transmission of functional energy from the brain. That we are right is amply borne out by RESULTS. Not temporary but permanent results. The time required to bring about permanent results is dependent not upon the severity, character or location of the headache, but entirely upon the time required to correct the pressure and thus make possible the removal of the cause. SLAYING OF CHEMIST PUZZLES THE POLICE

(By The Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—The slaying of Fred W. Ferrer, French chemist, whose body was found yesterday in a suburban cottage, has confronted southern California authorities with another murder mystery.

Police today worked upon the theory that Ferrer had been killed with the purpose of obtaining a secret liquor formula which he carried. Their investigation was handicapped by an inability to get more than a meagre knowledge of the slain man's past life and habits.

Even Ferrer's wife knew but little about him. "He was my husband. It's all I know," she told police detectives.

Ferrer came to America five years ago from Toulouse, France. He was employed as a chemist at a manufacturing plant.

'BOY EMPEROR' IS PROTECTED BY JAPS

PEKING, Nov. 29.—The "boy emperor" of China, Hsuan Tung, found asylum today at the Japanese legation, it became known here tonight.

The month has been an active one for Hsuan Tung, on Nov. 7, was forced to leave the imperial palace in the forbidden city, home of the Manchurian royal line since its downfall in the revolution of 1911. The order to depart came from Feng Yuh-Hsiang, the "christian general" then in power in Peking. Hsuan took up his abode in the home of the former regent, Prince Chih.

The turning out of the "boy emperor" and his family aroused much comment and Tuan Chi-Jui, now acting head of the de facto government at Peking, warned General Feng that the treasures of the imperial palace must not be disturbed.

LUMPKIN PLANS HIS COME-BACK FIGHT TUESDAY

New and Slempp's Return to Capital Signal For His First Move

With the return to Washington of Postmaster General Harry S. New and Bascom Slempp, secretary to the president, incidental with the reconvening of Congress, F. D. Lumpkin is planning his fight to restoration as postmaster of Danville. While Mr. Lumpkin was adverse to discussing his plans this morning, it was learned from other quarters that he has not been idle during the last week and that he is armed for a determined fight with the powers that be at Washington. Mr. Lumpkin is said to have secured letters of recommendation from a number of Danville business men, these relating to his character and to the results obtained in his method of conducting the post office at Danville. He probably will leave Danville tonight for Washington and tomorrow will see Mr. New and Mr. Slempp for a heart-to-heart discussion of the Danville situation. State Chairman Crumpler of the Virginia Republican organization, another of Mr. Lumpkin's friends, is not in Washington but he is understood to have other allies on whom he is depending for aid.

The crux of the situation will probably lie, it is said, in whether the postmaster general will back up the action of his subordinate First Assistant Postmaster-General Bartlett, who signed the Lumpkin removal order and who set into motion the general upheaval at the Danville postoffice, or whether he will override Bartlett and deal with the Danville situation personally. The local affair has become a topic of discussion in Washington since the decision which the postmaster general will be called upon to settle involves a broad question of departmental procedure. Mr. Slempp, inspector in charge here, had nothing further to report this morning. He complained, however, of the lateness of the Christmas parcel post, but that individual expressed the hope that individual parcels would arrive as early as possible in order to avoid a Christmas deluge, which might result in some of the packages failing to reach their destinations in time. Certain lines of delivery service are to be worked out this week, with the certainty of Bishop avenue, Schoolfield, receiving a mail delivery daily.

Carter, Tears Flowing, Tells Story of Life of the tragedy he went to Redville from Stokesland "for the purpose of seeing his children."

"As I drew up at the house," he continued, "I was attacked by memories of the household who called the police. An empty revolver was found in my car and I was arrested and bailed for appearance the next day. From there I went to my sister's home in Redville, where I stayed most of the day. I recall leaving my sister's home with the purpose of returning to the house where my wife was staying to effect a reconciliation. I do not recall anything else until the officers took me the next day." (While in jail here, Carter said that he remembered shooting John Price when the latter swung a chair at him. He also said that he "meant to kill Price, but did not mean to harm his wife.")

Carter's narrative this morning was calm and collected except at such times that he happened to refer to his children. His voice broke then and tears streamed from his eyes. He said he had four children by his first wife and four by the woman he killed. This morning the condemned man had not received spiritual ministrations but was prepared for them. He said that he was a member of the Baptist church and that "I have always tried to live like a good Christian." He then enumerated the various fraternal organizations in which he said he was in good standing in Danville.

At the time the interview was had today Carter was ignorant of Judge Bryson's recommendation. He was fully prepared for the end and was dividing his time in talking about his children at the State Prison, where he was at Oxford and efforts to reach a brother, Captain J. D. Carter, said to be a Southern Railway conductor, now understood to be in a distant state. Carter appeared very anxious to reach his brother and was intent apparently in entrusting the care of his children to him.

R. E. Mack, vaudeville impresario (left), was shot and killed in his offices in Los Angeles by A. R. Southern (right), according to police. REVIVES TO FIND LONE PARTNER IN BOAT DEAD

(By The Associated Press.) RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 1.—A story of having eaten canned soup, then losing consciousness and upon reviving several hours later finding his partner dead in the bottom of a powerless motorboat and battling the tides all night to reach Richmond, was told today by R. J. Ferguson of this city, who directed members of the naval militia eagle boat and Henrico county to a point on the James river opposite Drewry's Bluff, where he said he left the body of his friend, Gordon Kelly.

Ferguson told the authorities that he and Kelly left Richmond shortly after noon Saturday to make some repairs to a boat they kept off the river where they partook of canned tomato soup. About 20 minutes later, Ferguson asserted he told Kelly "I thought I would be down for a spell."

"The pains seemed to grow worse and the first thing I remembered from then was that Kelly had followed my example, he declared.

"When I awoke I was entirely dark. I was numb all over from the cold and found I could scarcely move about. I finally got out my watch and found it was nearly 10 o'clock and that I had been asleep for about four hours.

"Kelly's condition then occupied my mind. Shooked to feel him already cold and stiff, I did everything I could to bring him around, but had to give it up finally. It was not until several hours later that I was able to bring the boat to shore. I scouted around the country for a ways, but not finding a house, gave it up. The rest you know."

Although exhausted and suffering from exposure, Ferguson said he now felt normal. He refused medical attention.

County Coroner Traynham and other officials are en route to the scene.

G. O. P. EMERGED FROM CAMPAIGN WITH SURPLUS

(By The Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The Republican national committee emerged from the recent campaign with a surplus of $355,264 after expending a total of $3,693,052 according to a statement of receipts and expenditures by Chairman W. H. Butler, a detailed tabulation of which was ready for filing today with the clerk of the House.

Chairman Butler said it was "with satisfaction" that he was able to report that the committee, after defraying all costs, had exceeded by no greater margin the estimate made after the Cleveland convention that a total expenditure of three million dollars was necessary for the successful conduct of the campaign. His statement showed that expenses of $257,500 for the senatorial and congressional members, financed independently in previous campaigns were included in the grand total of national committee expenditures.

"ROLIKIS" TO MEET The Danville Rotarians, Kiwanis and Lions will meet tomorrow night in the Masonic Temple dining hall and will spend an evening of enjoyment after supper has been served. How Much Is A Diamond Worth?

The price you pay for a diamond may or may not represent its actual worth. That depends on the quality of the stone.

A perfect diamond always has a definite market value. But perfection in a diamond can only be determined by expert, crucial examination under a powerful microscope.

It is highly important, in the purchase of a diamond, to make sure that the stone you select is perfect—even beyond the evidence of the keenest eye.

You can make sure of this by reliance on Hodnett and Speer Company for this house confines all its diamond selections (in stones of one fourth carat and larger) to perfect gems.

You will find here one of the most important collections of rare gem stones in Southern Virginia. And you will get the advantage of Hodnett and Speer Company's buying power. Value comparisons are sincerely urged.

PHOTOGRAPHS WIRELESSED
FROM LONDON TO N. Y.

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Trans-Atlantic transmission of photographs by radio is a reality.

Deputies of President Coolidge, Premier Stanley Baldwin, the Prince of Wales and Owen D. Young were among those dispatched by wireless from London yesterday during a public test conducted by the Radio Corporation of America. In its offices here a jangling stylus drew these pictures on an oscillating cylinder and twenty minutes after each original had been put on the air in London, it was reproduced in New York. Officials of the company say that the invention, an all-American instrument, by which not only pictures but printed messages may be transmitted, is a complete success.

The device was developed by C. H. Tarnor, chief engineer of the Radio Corporation, E. W. Alexanderson, cutting engineer of the Radio Corporation and R. H. Ranger, directing engineer. With but little refinement, they explained, their process will be available for trans-Atlantic dispatching of photographs of criminals for police purposes.

The cost of transmitting a picture is between $30 and $40. This computation is based on the number of words that could be sent at toll rates during the thirty minutes that is required for the dispatch of a picture. It is expected, however, that the sending time will be reduced considerably in the near future.

YOUTHFUL DESIGN

Just the dress for the young girl to wear to a dance or party is this! If her eyes are blue, powder blue taffeta would be lovely if it were trimmed with fine ecru lace and finished with a blue velvet bow at the neck. The brown-eyed girl would be charming in maize or rose-colored taffeta. For afternoon or as a Sunday "best," why not make it of a darker silk and trim it with velvet ribbon?

February girl graduates who are now contemplating making their own dresses for the commencement exercises will find the very style they'd love to have, here, too. It's a charming style, which at the same time is very easy to make. White crepe de Chine, organdie or fine batiste is suggested.

The dress pattern No. 2233 is cut in sizes 14, 16 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure. In the 36-inch size, 3 yards of 40-inch material with 54 yards of banding, is required. Price 15c. in stamps or coin (coin preferred).

Baby Should Have Definite Feeding Schedule

BY DR. STANLEY GIBSON
Attending Physician, Children's Ward, Wesley Memorial Hospital, Chicago

Human milk is the ideal food for the baby. Not only does it contain fat, sugar, protein, salts and water in the proper proportions for the infant's needs, but it also contains other substances which protect the baby against infectious disease.

The superiority of breast milk to any other food is strikingly demonstrated by the fact that fully four-fifths of the infant deaths occur among those who are artificially fed.

These figures furnish dramatic proof that no mother can afford to deprive her baby of breast milk if she is capable of supplying it, unless her own physical condition is such that her physician forbids her nursing the baby.

Even though she may not be able to supply a sufficient amount of milk the baby that receives a portion of his food from the mother has a better chance than the one who is wholly bottle fed.

Stimulate Flow

The mother's milk does not appear in the breast until three or four days after the baby is born. Nevertheless the baby should be put to the breast at regular intervals both to accustom him to nursing and to stimulate the flow of milk. It is also important during the first few days to give the infant water frequently.

When the mother's milk supply is established, the nursing intervals should usually be either three or four hours. In general the mother will produce more milk if the baby is on a three rather than a four-hour schedule.

When the mother has plenty of milk and the baby is strong and vigorous, the four-hour feeding is to be preferred. By so doing the mother has longer intervals for recreation and rest, and the infant is less likely to suffer from vomiting and colic. Whether the three or four-hour interval be adopted, one feeding can usually be omitted at night.

Keep Rigid Schedule

Once the feeding schedule is decided upon, it should be rigidly followed. For a short time the baby may have to be awakened at nursing time, but he soon learns to awake at the proper time.

To offer the breast when he cries or when it suits the mother's convenience, usually results in a fussy, colicky baby who disturbs the peace of the entire household. Particularly bad is the habit of allowing the infant to sleep with the mother and to nurse at short intervals during the night.

In most instances one breast should be given at each nursing.

AFTER JANUARY FIRST

The Rev. H. N. Soyars who has served the Schoolfield Baptist congregation acceptably for five years and who recently accepted a call to the Monumental Baptist church of Petersburg, Va., is expected to assume his new pastorate on the first Sunday in January. He succeeds to a pastorate which has been vacated since last April by the retirement of Rev. B. F. Robinson, who went to a pastorate in Onancock, Accomack county, Va. In the interval the Petersburg congregation has been supplied by William R. Tankey, a ministerial student at University of Richmond.

SERGEANT NOSTRANDT
TRYING PATROL DUTY

Police Officer Talley has been suffering no little pain from a bone-tion on one of the fingers of his right hand, and a day or two ago, being incapacitated by reason of his bandaged hand from patrol duty, he was enabled to swap assignments with Night Desk Sergeant Richard Nstrandt. Mr. Talley taking the desk pro tem, Sergeant Nstrandt is walking his extensive beat in nipping weather, but rather enjoys the change from the confinement of the all-night desk work. Officer Talley hopes to be able to resume work as a regular two-fisted officer in a few days.

Danville Hi School
Needs Are Told

The football season for Danville High school has ended with a record of four games won and three lost. Danville players scored in every game. It is interesting to know that all of Danville's games were shut outs. Danville made a total score of 55 points; her opponents stand at 69. It. Farley scored at least one touch down in each game.

The members of the team for the past season were: J. Farley, R. Farley, Davis, Clark, Tucker, S. Reeves, Cox, Perkins, Frix, Harrison, Harris, Giles, Kushner, Martin, Trundle, Whisman, and Blair and Kerr.

The following members of the team are leaving this year: Taylor, S. Reeves, Dyer, Clark, Tucker, R. Farley, Davis and Blair.

Miss Louise Clark of the sophomore class, who has been quite ill is recovering now.

Miss Evelyn Blackenship has returned to school after a long illness. The Danville High school contributed a slightly larger amount to the Community Chest Drive than any of the Danville public schools.

The Girls' Basketball team is organizing to do some very effective work.

Miss Betty Taylor, Miss Frances Land and Miss Theresa Diamond contributed very interesting Thanksgiving stories to the English class. These were read to the Class Wednesday.

The Danville High school enjoys many advantages which we are very grateful for, yet there are several very serious limitations in our school life which handicap us considerably in our educational progress.

The present building was designed to accommodate an enrollment of three hundred students, yet we are endeavoring to accommodate six hundred this means crowded classes, crowded study halls and crowded passage ways; this lack of room necessitates the use of an old outside building called the annex. The laboratory facilities are poor and there is no gymnasium. So our lack of room really is a great handicap to us in our school progress.

We are also in need of a larger library, better provided with good books, magazines, and periodicals. Intelligent reading helps to make good citizens. There are many students in high school who would become more intelligent readers if we had better library accommodations to offer them.

Another need is for a larger clerical force. Naturally a great deal of clerical work must be done in a school as large as the Danville high school, yet there is only one part-time secretary.

We are confident that these things will be given us by the citizens of Danville; in return our school will become a more efficient organization for the proper development of the mental, moral and physical lives of the children of Danville who are so soon to become active citizens.

Members of the high school faculty hold degrees from the following colleges and universities:

Richmond College, Harvard University, Randolph Macon, Woman's College, Winthrop College, Columbia University, Vanderbilt University, Indiana University, University of Missouri, Meredith College, State Teachers' College, Washington and Lee University, University of Ohio, University of North Carolina and Brenau College.

A bulletin published by the American Association of Teachers of Spanish was recently handed to the Spanish department. One item says: "There are more than sixty million people between the Rio Grande and the Strait of Magellan who speak Spanish; with these our relations from every point of view are bound to grow ever closer. We do not need French and German to carry on our work in the American, but we do need Spanish as a language of personal or business intercourse. It is much easier to acquire than French or German."

If the American people wish to satisfy the demands created by our geographical, political economic and social relations in the New World Spanish must be put alongside English as the additional and alternate language of everyday life."

She Slays Own Child

MRS. BLANCHE TOBIAS

WOOSTER, O., Dec. 1.—All her life long Mrs. Blanche Tobias has suffered.

The years have brought her only sorrows, the sorrows that dissipate life's strength—the sorrows that tear at the heart.

And these same sorrows seemed destined to follow her baby-son from the cradle on.

The horror of that thought was driving her mad. She looked down into the tiny blue eyes of the child; they reflected the cruelties of her own years—it was too much for her mother-love.

So, thinking only of sparing her child from the tragedies she had experienced, she strangled him to death, as he lay at her side, in the Wayne county infirmary near here.

Club Women Defend Her.

That was, so her story goes, after her husband, standing over the tiny crib, had denied the child was his. The baby then was but two weeks old.

And now the little mother—she is just a mile of a girl not more than five feet tall and weighing no more than 100 pounds—is in jail waiting for a jury to decide whether she was justified in her act.

She is held on a first degree murder charge, pending action of the grand jury which convenes in January.

But she will not be without friends. People, for the first time in her life, are interested in her.

Club women have named an attorney to help her.

Took Daughter From Her.

The first nine years of the girl's life were spent in an orphanage at Wooster.

SATURDAY NOW A QUIET
ONE IN DANVILLE

Danville is becoming an unusually quiet and orderly Saturday night city. Although the downtown streets are thronged and much business is done and Saturday nights, the street crowds are enjoying their outing and the opportunity of "seeing people" and many of them are shopping at the Christmas trade fairs.

Last night was a typical illustration. Only one arrest for drunkenness was reported, with two more taken into custody on immorality charges, both minors.

When the liver becomes weak, the poisons are sucked up by the blood and health is broken down. Physicians know that the liver cannot be regulated by drugs, but a safe Nature substance has been discovered which will at once increase the vital Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, a combined creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

WIND-DRIVEN FLOE

BERLIN—Dr. Flettner's invention of towers containing revolving cylinders to replace ships' sails has attracted widespread interest.

Further tests are now to be made to see how the invention can be applied for other purposes.

Aeroplane is to be constructed with wings embodying the new principle and a tower over 300 feet high is to be erected in Berlin with the object of discovering what electrical power can be developed.

The late Count Zeppelin took an active interest in Dr. Flettner's experiments.

It is stated that both the Zeppelin Company, Friedrichshafen, and the Goodyear-Zeppelin Company, New York, are discussing with the Flettner company the basis of a mutual working agreement.—World-Wide.

PRESIDENT NEUTRAL AT ARMY-NAVY TILT

(By The Associated Press.)

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 29.—An inconspicuous spectator among the 78,000... that crowded Baltimore Stadium, President Coolidge saw the army defeat the navy 12 to 0 here today in the annual football clash between the two service schools.

The first president to attend an Army-Navy game in half a dozen years, Mr. Coolidge took little part in the spectacle that each year surrounds the contest. He arrived in Baltimore shortly after noon after a motor trip from Washington, accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and a small party of friends and officials, including Secretary Wilbur; had lunch at the Stadium; witnessed the game, sitting during the first half of the Navy side and during the second half on the Army side, and then returned to Washington.

EVANGELIST DENIES HE HAS A HAREM

(By Universal Service.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Of snow-white hair and apostolic mien, Rev. H. M. Ferguson, evangelist who was accused by three pastors in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, of holding a "mystic harem over women," today denied that he was nothing else but a preacher of the faith of John Wesley and curer of the ills of mankind through faith. The Iowa ministers opposed Ferguson's revival campaigns on the score that he had founded a colony and established a school for girls which the committee termed a "harem."

"I have no mystic power over women and I cannot make them do my bidding," Mr. Ferguson declared. "These charges are the work of my enemies who are jealous of my success. I have made many cures through the preaching of faith in God."

"It is true that I had some trouble with a congregation in Darrapids two years ago, but I still have many friends there and last month I was urged to come back there and preach a revival. Because I went back these charges were renewed."

DAILY PUZZLE

A grocer had six packages of the weights shown in the drawing; their contents were coffee, tea, and sugar, which were, of course, not mixed. There was only one package of tea. The grocer sold all the coffee and all the sugar, and received the same total of money for each. But the price of coffee was six times as much per pound as that of sugar.

Which packages contained sugar; which coffee; and which tea?

Yesterday's answer:

48 is the puzzle number. Add one to it, it becomes 49, a square number (7X7). Divide 48 by 2, making 24, and add 1, which gives 25—also a square number (5X5).

GREENVILLE, S. C., Nov. 29.—Every player owned by the Greenville club of the South Atlantic Baseball Association will be "put on the market" at the annual meeting of the national association at Hartford, Conn., next week, it was announced here today by Zinn Beck, manager of the Greenville Club.

WILL TRY TO REPORT GET-RICH-QUICK MAN

(By The Associated Press.)

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—Charles Ponzi, get-rich-quick financier whose promise of profits of "50 per cent in 45 days" to investors four years ago attracted capital aggregating, it was said, one million dollars, was arrested and given a hearing today before the immigration authorities on a charge that he was in the United States illegally. Deportation proceedings against Ponzi are to be started at once, the immigration authorities said today.

After questioning before Immigration Inspection Feri P. Wells, he was released on bail of $1,000.

Today's hearing was continued when Ponzi's counsel, William H. Lewis, former United States attorney, asked opportunity to consult records concerning his client. The warrant on which Ponzi was arrested charges only that he is in the country in violation of the law. Detailed charges could not properly be made public at this time, Immigration Commissioner John P. Jones said today.

The New Wash Silks are mostly stripes, and run the gamut all the way from the narrow pin stripes up to the wide awning stripes.

The New Styles are to be on very simple lines but the New Fabrics must stand out, either for novelty of design or striking color effect.

Eyes of Football World Focus on New Year's Day Tilts

CALIF.-PENNSYLVANIA, NOTRE DAME-STANFORD GAMES FEATURE CARD

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Football has entertained more than 10,000,000 persons through out the United States this fall, and overflowing college coffers augur well for the game's future.

With sectional championships settled to the extent possible under necessarily brief schedules, California, the five-year undefeated eleven of the Pacific coast, will meet Pennsylvania at Berkeley, New Year's day, and at the same time undefeated Notre Dame will play undefeated Stanford.

These engagements cannot, however, be considered American championship clashes, for such a title could only result from a series in which three eastern teams, as many from the middle west, the southern champions, and at least two coast eleven participated. But they will produce an interesting comparison of football as played on the nation's two coast lines.

The eastern season ended in a triple tie, Pennsylvania, Yale and Dartmouth, coming through without defeat although all participated in a sensational wrestling match in Norfolk during the war period in which the two mixed it vigorously. That some feeling of antagonism existed between the two became evident to spectators at the Kilonis-Peters match ten days ago, and the rivalry between the two and their tactics against each other seems to assure a rough fight.

Every effort will be made by the Military Athletic Association to secure a referee for this match who will be able to keep the wrestlers within the rules and who will eliminate any thing not permissible in a good clean exhibition.

The main event (Kilonis-Ellis) will start promptly at 8:15, promoters will be the last "open house" exhibition, it is said, before the limitation of these matches to the membership of the athletic association. For the first time, spectators' boxes will be installed during the week, and the hall will be comfortably warmed.

Ladies will be admitted to the balcony without charge.

Holy Cross made the best record of the four large Catholic institutions, scoring victories over Fordham and Boston college, while Fordham conquered Georgetown.

Illinois, favorite in the western conference, was eliminated when Minnesota defeated the eleven led by the formidable "Red" Grange, 20 to 7, Chicago thereupon changing the title.

Notre dame, not a member of the conference, defeated three of its eleven.

Centre college, which spouted to fame under "Uncle Charlie" Morant, now at Bucknell, defeated Alabama, leader in the southern title series. Centre, however, is not a member of the conference. Florida and Washington and Lee, both rivals of Alabama, will play a deciding game Saturday.

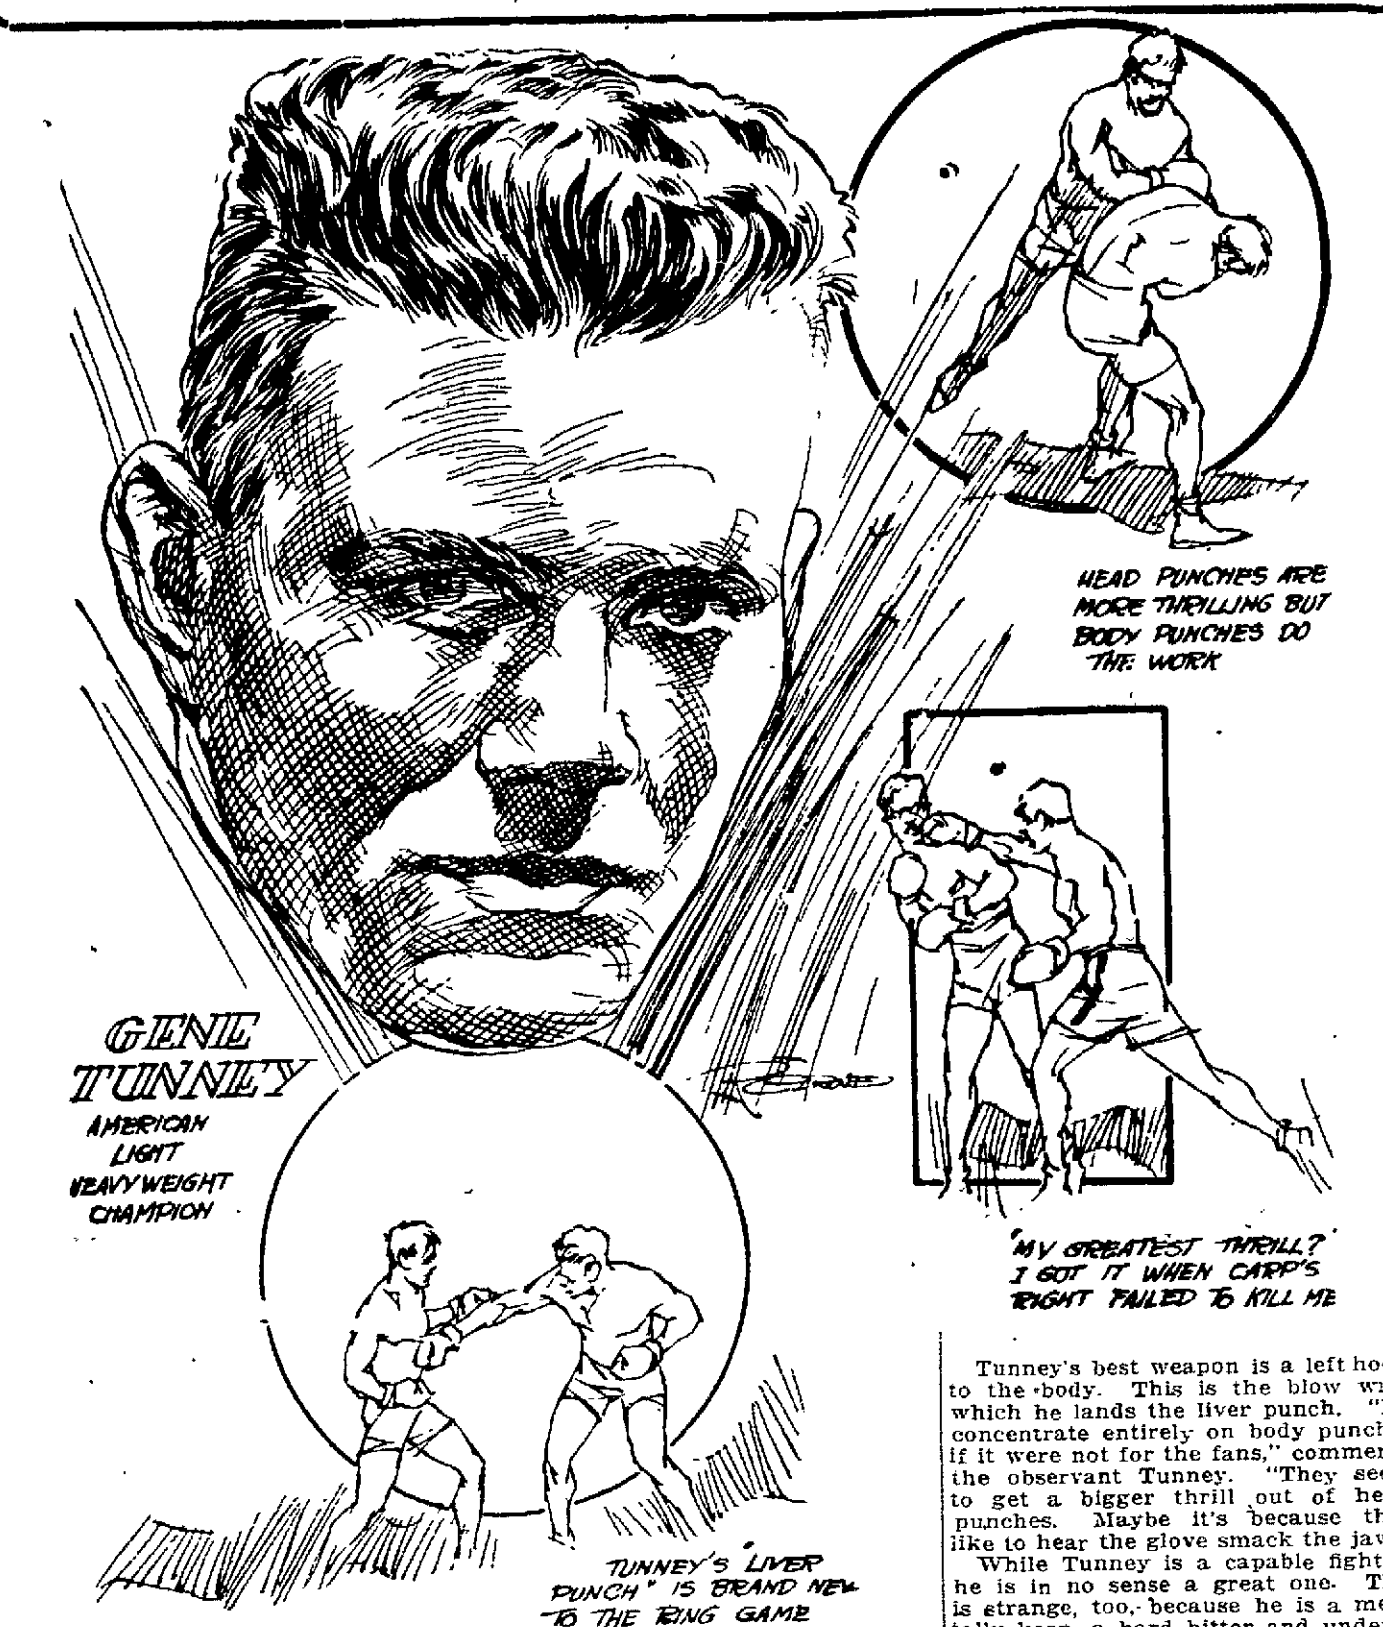

The year has produced numerous stellar individual performers, with Grange leading the honors. Grange, back of Stanford, shouldered the attack which tied California, 20 to 20.

Garbisch of the Army kicked four field goals to beat the Navy. The toe of Krueser has saved Pennsylvania and that of McBride has won for Syracuse.

The west has a quartet besides Grange in Schutte, of Minnesota, and Harvard. Williams repeated its conquest among the "Little Three" and at the same time stopped Cornell's three-year winning streak.

A telegram yesterday announced that a match had been arranged for Friday night at the Armory hall next Friday night, December 5, between John Kilonis, who recently won from Peters in a wrestling bout here, and Ed Ellis, who refereed the match. These two wrestlers are old rivals and figured in a sensational wrestling match in Norfolk during the war period in which the two mixed it vigorously.

LIVER PUNCH TUNNEY'S MOST EFFECTIVE WALLOP

This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the present ring champions and their favorite punches, written expressly for The Bee by Joe Williams, nationally known sport writer.—EDITOR'S NOTE.

BY JOE WILLIAMS
A new punch has been introduced in the boxing game—the LIVER PUNCH. It is the first new punch since Bob Fitzsimmons exploded his famous solar plexus in Jim Corbett's mid-section at Carson City, Nev., back in the late '90s.

Gene Tunney, light heavyweight champion of America, is the author of the new punch. In reality it is a variation of the solar plexus. The attack is centered on the same region. Instead of firing directly at the solar plexus, Tunney shifts somewhat to the side and strikes the liver.

Tunney, analyst and thinker, claims to have gone into minute detail with experts on the effect of various punches. His investigations led him to concentrate on the liver. "No blow when properly and fully landed causes a more instantaneous or complete nerve paralysis," insists Tunney.

Tells of Greatest Thrill
Tunney says he got his greatest thrill in that fight. It was a sort of negative thrill. Tunney had heard much of Carpenter's great right hand. What's more he had seen the Frenchman drop Levinsky with it and send Dempsey scampering backward across the ring.

HER PREJUDICES ABOUT WEDDING BANDS VANISH AS SHE FINDS HER IDEAL
(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—"Marriage! 'Bondage! Monotony! Three hundred and sixty-five days a year! Twenty-four hours each day! Appalling to one who has been free as the air, and happy as a bird in her freedom!" Thus, with dramatic emphasis, Miss Rita Weiman, author and playwright, in the Cosmopolitan Magazine for November, conveyed the glory of her feelings as a bachelor maid.

TAKE YOUR CHILD TO THE GAS HOUSE FOR HIS COLD; DANVILLE HAS ONE
"Take your child to the gas house." That will be the advice given to Danville parents by physicians when little Johnny Jones or Mary Smith develop a bad cold or whooping cough.

Tunney's best weapon is a left hook to the body. This is the blow with which he lands the liver punch. "I'd concentrate entirely on body punches if it were not for the fans," comments the observant Tunney. "They seem to get a bigger thrill out of head punches. Maybe it's because they like to hear the glove smack the jaw."

While Tunney is a capable fighter, he is in no sense a great one. This is strange, too, because he is a naturally keen and hard hitter and understands the game. I think he started out under a stifling handicap when someone told him he was a "gentleman fighter."

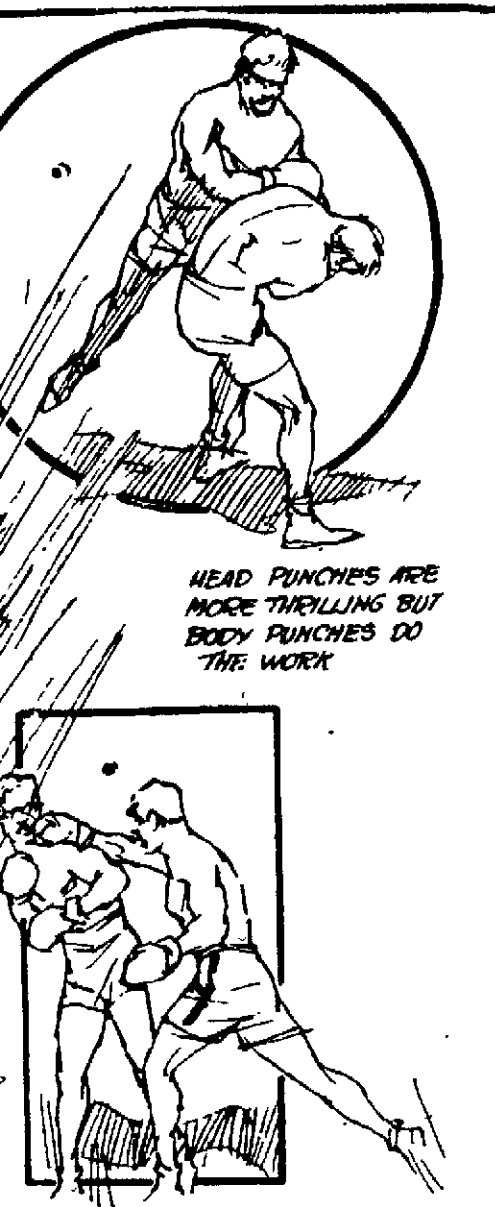

Tunney's liver punch is a left hook to the body. This is the blow with which he lands the liver punch. "I'd concentrate entirely on body punches if it were not for the fans," comments the observant Tunney.

CENTRE DEFEATS GEORGIA BUT NOT WITHOUT A FIGHT

DANVILLE, Ky., Nov. 29.—The Colonels of Centre defeated the University of Georgia Bulldogs 14 to 7 here this afternoon but the Kentuckians did not capture the stoppage without a terrific struggle. The Bulldogs, smarting under a defeat by Alabama Thursday, fought from start to finish and threatened to score more than the onlookers expected.

All the scoring was done in the second period. The end of the first period found the Colonels within two yards of a touchdown and it was scored on the second play of the second period. A pass of 22 yards from Covington to Gordy placed the ball on Georgia's 14-yard line and it was advanced to the two yard line before the end of the period.

Rabenstein went within inches of the goal line on the first play and Covington squirmed through the Georgia defense for the first touchdown of the game.

A short kick out of bounds gave Centre the ball on Georgia's 32 yard line a few minutes later. Covington and Gordy marched on an end run and were forced out of bounds on Georgia's 15-yard line. With Gordy carrying the ball, a first down followed in two plays and Rabenstein made the touchdown. Lemon kicked his second goal.

The second half was without scoring although the third period ended with Georgia in possession of the ball inside Centre's 30-yard line. A first down followed but the Centre defense tightened and the Colonels took the ball on their own 14 yard line. Centre launched an offensive that placed the ball on Georgia's thirty-yard line but another fumble lost it.

ARMY PLUCK SVICTORY FROM NAVY THROUGH ED. GARBISCH

(By The Associated Press.)
BALTIMORE STADIUM, Nov. 29.—Captain Ed Garbisch, playing his last game for the Army, kicked four field goals today and saved the Cadets all of the 12 points that carried them to victory over the navy in the twenty-seventh annual service classic, fought out before a record crowd of 78,000 which included President and Mrs. Coolidge.

The final score of the stubbornly fought game was 12 to 0.

Garbisch gave one of the most remarkable exhibitions of accurate drop-kicking that any gridiron had ever seen. He aimed at the cross-bars eight times, and made five, and made good fifty per cent. of his attempts. The veteran cadet leader scored from the 27 and 40 yard lines in the second period, from the 44 yard line in the third and from the 30 yard mark in the final quarter.

Fulfill Predictions.
The Cadets, by the decisiveness of their victory, fulfilled the predictions that made them favorites, but they were forced to a terrific fight to take the measure of the Midshipmen, who rallied from the depths of a previously disastrous campaign to put up a brilliant defensive battle that thwarted every attempt of the Army to score a touchdown and might have produced another scoreless deadlock, such as was waged a year ago, only for the unstopable performances of Garbisch.

The Army displayed marked superiority in every department except defense, consistently outtrussing and outkicking the Sailors.

Outplayed but not outclassed, the Midshipmen went down to defeat in a plucky, courageous battle against a team which displayed far greater experience, coolness and versatility. Bill Wood and Bill Gilmore, two backfield stars playing their last game for West Point, scintillated. Harry Wilson, all-American star, who had been picked to lead the Army's charge, was in almost total eclipse and after failing to make any headway in the first half, was displaced by "Tiny" Hewett, whose line plunging was a feature of the Cadet's drive.

Garbisch, however, was the only consistently outstanding unitary in a game, which, aside from the stubborn character of its line play, was marked by a maze of interrelated passes, blocked kicks and fumbles. "Breaks" of which the Cadets reaped the richest harvest of results. The Army captain shot for the uprights eight times during the game, aiming at distances ranging from 25 to 45 yards and from all angles of the gridiron. He missed three times in the first quarter before he got the range and put the Army in the lead with an accurate boot from the 27 yard line in the second period. He missed another try in this period but put two through the cross-bars in the third quarter from the 44 and 22 yard lines and finished his day's work in the final quarter with a shot from the thirty yard mark.

Three of the opportunities for Garbisch's deadly marksmanship followed "breaks" that favored the Army for the fourth goal came after the Cadets, in the most sustained of lensive exhibition of the game, had advanced the ball 75 yards down the field to within 20 yards of the Navy goal. Harding, Cadet field general, coaxed off a 33 yard run from kick-off, the longest dash of the afternoon, to start this drive, which the plunging of Gilmore and Wood threatened to carry over the final chalk mark until the Sailors stiffened for their last big defensive stand.

Recovers Blocked Kick.
Garbisch himself paved the way for his first goal when he recovered a blocked kick in Navy territory, after which Gilmore led a 20-yard charge to striking distance of the Midshipmen. Two intercepted passes, one by Hewett and the other by Gilmore, opened up opportunities for the second and third goals by the Cadet leader.

Four times the Army had the ball inside the Navy's 20-yard line and on three occasions the Navy's heavy line, which far outweighed its rivals, held for downs or forced an attempt at field goal. The fourth and brightest opportunity for a Cadet touchdown was lost.

Football Honors All In a Muddle
By ARTHUR H. TAYLOR
An amazing and bewildering football season ended yesterday with an astonishing victory by the West Point cadet team over the Naval Academy team by a score of 12 to 0. It was not a surprise that the Army won, for on the season's performances they appeared to have the edge on the midshipmen this year. What is amazing is that the Army triumph was the achievement of one man, E. Garbisch, who scored all of Army's seven points by drop-kick goals, an unparalleled performance which excels the best work of Daly, Hudson, Poe, Brickley and all the other great goal-kickers. Indeed, Garbisch's achievement is probably an unequalled record in the history of the sport.

It is a fine tribute to the pluck and fighting spirit of the Navy and to the ability of Coach Bob Fawcett of the Navy squad, that a team which has appeared weaker than for years was able to develop a defense that withstood the West Point efforts to cross its goal-line. Such a defense is as glorious as a victory for a team.

Because Norman Cleaveland, star player of the Stanford University, played a few minutes as a varsity man four seasons back, his eligibility is questioned and the right of Stanford to the coast championship hangs in doubt. Stanford recently had California in the big game of the year. Cleaveland was not in that game, but the halfback had played against Idaho, Oregon and Montana. The question is whether these games should be thrown out. Stanford has expressed a willingness to accept defeat in the games questioned, if it is the wish of conference authorities.

Georgia U (0-3) and Sewanee (0-16). Anyway the football tangle is viewed, the conclusions are contradictory or chaotic and lead to no inference worth while.

But, viewing the season as a whole in retrospect, what an astounding and perplexing series of contradictions are shown by the scores all season! The dopes who rely on comparative scores is likely to be driven insane by the consistency with which prophecy has been discredited and the "sure thing" predictions has been turned to naught. Notre Dame, Knute Rockne's wonder-team, finished undefeated when it won from the Carnegie Tech eleven yesterday 40 to 19. It is true, Rockne's eleven did not meet Stage's Chicago eleven, conceded best claimants of the Western Conference honors, nor did it conquer Yale and Pennsylvania and many other of the most powerful elements of the country, but it did vanquish West Point, Princeton and Georgia Tech and now Carnegie Tech, early season conquerors of Pittsburgh.

Perhaps the contrainance of comparative scores as a guide to judging the relative strength of football teams is best illustrated by a series of scores affording fresh contrasts. Illinois, Zuppke's Western conference team, which tied Chicago, putative champions of the conference, was beaten 20 to 7 by Minnesota; then Vanderbilt defeated Minnesota by the 16 to 0 and then—miraculous fiction—along comes Little Sewanee (University of the South) and upsets Vanderbilt 16 to 0! Is it strange that the man who essays the role of gridiron prophet is impelled to tear his hair and ask "Where am I at?" after such a hopeless cross-buck tangle? Yet this series of scores is hardly more contradictory and perplexing than many others.

In the South, Alabama by its decisive defeat of Georgia Tech, seemed to be about the most formidable bunch in Dixie, but a week later they met Little Centre College, Ky., and were beaten 17 to 0. Yesterday Centre emphasized its gridiron prowess by humbling Georgia university 14 to 7. Vanderbilt had beaten Georgia Tech and Minnesota when Sewanee spilled the beans for them.

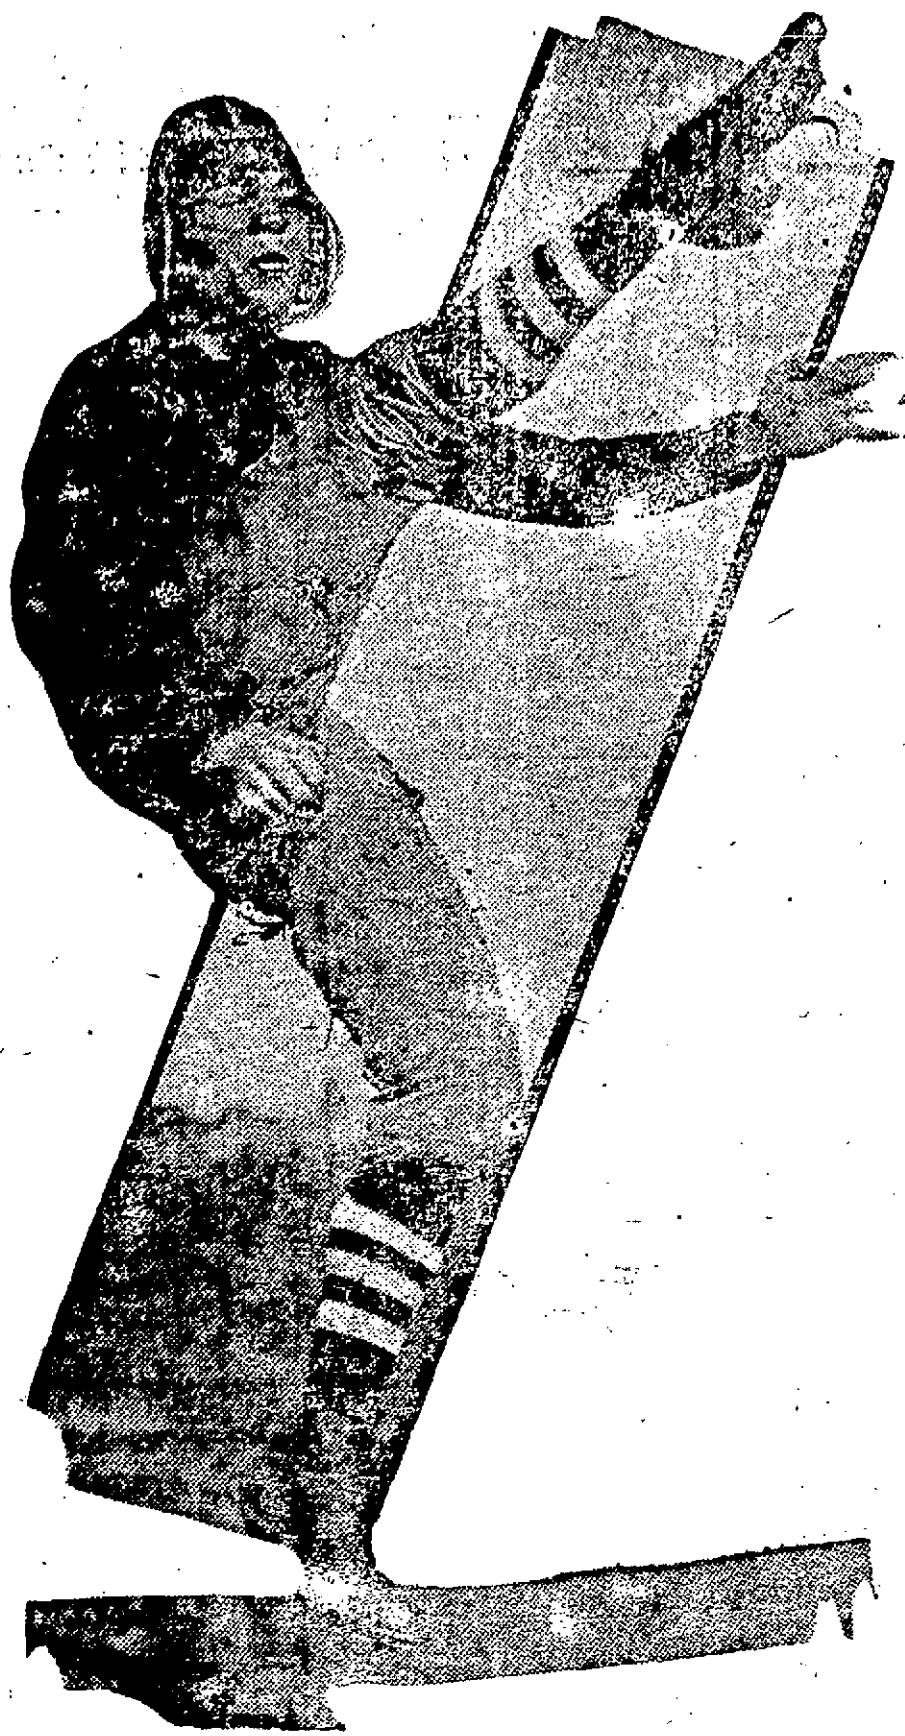

In the collegiate group Wake Forest seems clearly entitled to the honors, having beaten North Carolina University, N. C. State and Washington and Lee besides the Carolina college teams generally. Yet Wake Forest closed its brilliant season with a defeat administered by the strong University of South Carolina eleven.

In the Virginia collegiate group, William and Mary has no rival unless it be Roanoke college, which tied the Royals, and both of them defeated Richmond university, which tied Hampden Sidney. As far as scores are a guide, the Roanoke college and William and Mary must draw for the honors.

In Virginia, the University of Virginia seems entitled to the honors, having defeated all its rivals except Washington and Lee, which is perhaps equally entitled to claim primacy as the University of Virginia. The 10 to 8 defeat of the Generals by Wake Forest early in the season, and the subsequent defeat of Virginia by W. and L., constitute the chief obstacle to the claim of an unbeaten record by either of these two leading Virginia eleven. This is offset by the fact that Virginia beat V. P. L., whom the Generals were only able to tie in a scoreless battle, and also defeated V. M. I. and North Carolina. Washington and Lee was beaten by Wake Forest and West Virginia alone; West Virginia defeated Centre and was beaten only by Pittsburgh. Without doubt, it must be reckoned with in any comparison of the strong southern eleven.

As for the honors of the Southern Conference group, Sewanee, Vanderbilt, Alabama and Florida all have excellent records, although Sewanee was beaten by Kentucky, Alabama and Iglethorpe, whereas Vanderbilt defeated Tuane, Auburn, Georgia Tech and Minnesota and lost only to

OMIT WORD PROTESTANT, STIRS UP CRITICISM

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Bishop William T. Manning tonight denied that he had in conversation about the alleged omission of the word "protestant" from the corporate name of the Protestant Episcopal church in America in New York newspaper advertising which will be criticized in next week's issue of The Churchman, an Episcopal publication.

The periodical will say that the bishop and officials at the church's national headquarters here, acquiesced in the reported omission, and that it was made improperly at the direction of officials of the New York Clerical Union for the maintenance and defense of Catholic principles. "The matter has never been brought to my attention," Bishop Manning said. "I know nothing about it. The title that should be used is the official title of the church."

Escaping Man Is Shot In His Car Near Carroll Line

(Special to The Bee.)

HILLSVILLE, Va., Dec. 1.—Warren Nolan, who was recently shot and injured near the Carroll county line while he was trying to escape into North Carolina with a car which had been attached by the Patrick county authorities, is planning to bring suit for damages. He claims he was shot by a man who was not an officer of the law and who had no right to stop him. Details of the affair are as follows:

Nolan was in Stuart, county seat of Patrick, a few days ago with his car when officers of the Patrick county bank saw him and remembered that Nolan had a score to settle with that institution. His car was attached and Officer Fred Williams was detailed to take charge of it. Nolan asked Williams if he could get his overcoat out of the car and the officer who at that moment was standing a few feet from the car, consented. Nolan instead of getting the coat, leaped into the machine, the engine of which was running gently and he made a getaway from his parked position. Williams was quick enough to swing to the running board, but at that moment the door flew open and the officer was thrown under the rear wheel which crushed his leg and ankle. Three other officers took up the chase, and a fourth, recognizing that he was headed for Carroll, telephoned to Laurel Fork and persuaded people at that point to block the road. A barricade of barrels, timber and wire was run across the highway. Nolan paid scant attention to this, but plunged through it at good speed, sending the barrels flying. A man in a ditch, shot at Nolan, as he sped by, and the bullet struck him behind the arm, striking a rib which deflected the bullet out of the body, without causing serious injury. The wound stopped Nolan and he was carried back to Stuart where his wounds were dressed and where he gave bond for his appearance.

MORNING STOCK LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon)

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Let us start the new month with a little puzzle: not of the cross-word kind, but about banking. The Federal reserve board in consolidating the figures of 743 member banks as of November 19th shows a reduction in loans on corporate securities to the extent of $21,000,000, an 8 per cent reduction of $24,000,000 in general commercial loans and discounts. With business getting blizzier and the stock market one of the biggest in our history, and a reduction in loans on corporate securities, what is becoming of the stocks, where are they going, and where is the money coming from? Has there ever been anything like this before? Let the older people answer. I cannot.

With Congress in session and as it is the same Congress that has made a wonderful record for disturbance, let us be a little on guard against surprises—possibly some reactions

SAFETY OF CREDIT UNIONS

I want to add a few words about the credit union to which the last two articles in this series have been devoted. As has been stated the purpose of the credit union is twofold, to encourage thrift and to provide a safe place for the saving of small sums and to accord credit facilities in the way of small loans. The question at once arises as to the safety of these loans and as to the purposes for which they are made. It would be natural to object that an organization of this kind without experience in banking practice would make many mistakes in lending money with consequent heavy losses. Experience shows that this is not the case. The reason is that the credit committee that passes upon all applications is made up of men personally familiar with the circumstances of the borrower as well as his character. The chances are that these committees are just as well able to judge the soundness of a kind of a loan they make as is a banker to estimate the risk he is taking when a customer applies for a loan. The safety of the credit union is therefore a question of fact. In this close personal touch between those who use upon the loan and those to whom the loan is made.

Now as to the purposes for which loans are made. They are of two classes. First come those applications arising out of sickness, unemployment or misfortune of any kind. Second come those which might be called "productive loans." They range from the purchase of a house to the expenses of a course in night school. Sometimes, too, loans are made to employees who wish to purchase stock in the corporation for which they are working. All these credit problems relate to the urban type of credit unions. The rural credit unions make loans of a different kind but fully as important. They do a good deal in the way of cooperative buying of feeds, fertilizers and supplies as well as the actual financing of crops, always remembering that this is done as far as the individual loan is concerned on a small scale and that the business is confined to a particular group of locality.

(Mr. Hughes' next article will appear in The Bee next Wednesday.)

MORNING COTTON LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon)

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—For those who are still long of cotton I can see only further losses. The market looked softer to me in the last ten minutes Saturday than at any time during the week. I am for short sales.

MORNING SUGAR LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon)

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—With the unpaid portion of the remainder of the Cuban crop rapidly diminishing and heavy rains retarding grinding operations the light position has become accentuated with little spots. Sugar available below 4 1/2 cents. While the near options will likely continue to reflect the acute shortage for immediate requirements, advances in the spring options will likely prove sympathetic.

FOOTBALL QUESTIONS

If You Have Some Question to Ask About Football Write—

LAWRENCE RERICH,
Special Football Correspondent of The Bee, 814 World Building,
New York

QUESTION—Is what year did Walter Johnson begin to pitch for Washington?

ANSWER—Johnson went to Washington in 1907 and pitched 14 games in his first year. Of these he won five and lost nine and the critics thought he might become a fair pitcher if he learned better control of the ball. The next year he won 14 games and lost 14 and some critics said he would never do.

QUESTION—Have Gene Tunney and Tommy Gibbons ever met?

ANSWER—Not in the ring. But they have been introduced and have conversed pleasantly.

QUESTION—In football game toward the end of the season a member of Team A made a touchdown. There were no stands and after the play had ceased, a spectator ran up to the back and congratulated him. The referee refused to allow the score and penalized the scoring team fifteen yards. Was this a correct decision?

ANSWER—Rule XXII, Section 1 and 2, say there shall be a 15-yard penalty for a spectator coming on field measured from spot of foul.
